The Company The Pristine Method® Management

About Pristine

Established in 1994, Pristine.com, a division of Pristine Capital Holdings, Inc., provides insight, intelligence and education for the self-directed trader. Our combination of live seminars and online services guide both new and experienced traders to a more intuitive understanding of the markets. From a modest beginning as a daily fax sheet outlining explanations of the day's market activity, Pristine.com has grown to become one of the world's largest and most sophisticated online educational services for active, self-directed traders with over 60,000 subscribers to its daily advisory services and over 400 multi-language seminars conducted each year around the globe.

The aim of Pristine.com is to educate individuals interested in self-directed trading and to provide trading ideas for those already experienced in the markets. The Pristine Method® includes a candid explanation of the psychological challenges of day and swing trading. Pristine.com also differentiates itself by not just teaching what to trade, but when and why to trade.

Ultimately, individuals who participate in the complete Pristine educational system are better equipped to understand the markets and sufficiently prepared to trade independently. Pristine.com offers a series of educational seminars around the country, as well as an array of real-time, daily, weekly, and monthly services.
